

WOULD YOU?

Just suppose, dear reader, that you had some serious trouble with your eyes, of course you haven't, but if you had, would you call in your family physician or would you call in the oculist, who makes a specialty of diseases of the eye? There are specialists in everything who make a specialty of doing one thing and doing it right.

JERRY SULLIVAN'S DUEL.

A Stockman in Close Quarters.

Attacked by Two Men Near Del Rio Station.

A Fusillade by Moonlight that Did Little Harm to Any-one.

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Nov. 1.—A moonlight duel took place in Chino valley last night in which Jerry W. Sullivan, a well known and wealthy stockman, was one of the participants, his two assailants being John Clements and a German, name unknown.

Clements first picked a quarrel with Sullivan over an alleged debt of $10, then assaulted the latter's foreman with a beer bottle, beating him up badly.

Sullivan pulled a gun in defense of his foreman on Clements, when the German appeared, six shooter in hand, attracting the attention of Sullivan, when Clements opened fire on him.

Sullivan fired two shots in return, and having no more cartridges returned to a saloon, procured a Winchester and fired one shot, the only one in the gun.

Clements fired six shots in all, though only one took effect. It struck a tree behind which Sullivan was standing and glancing off, struck Sullivan's foreman in the leg, inflicting a flesh wound.

At one stage of the proceedings, Sullivan, thinking Clements through with his fusillade, was nearly murdered by the latter, who came up as Sullivan was trying to aid his prostrate employe, and fired a shot that whistled past Sullivan's ear. Then the cattleman sought the shelter of the tree. The foreman, a Mexican named Anton, was brought in, suffering from his wounds and officers were dispatched to Del Rio to take Clements and the German. They succeeded without opposition and this evening lodged their prisoners in jail here.

BY AN EARTHQUAKE.

The Eternal City Shaken to Its Ancient Foundations.

ROME, Nov. 1.—A severe and prolonged earthquake shock was felt here at 4:28 this morning. Many houses swayed, walls were cracked, and pictures fell from the walls, people ran panic stricken into the streets and serious disaster was apprehended.

A prison was badly shattered and the terrified prisoners broke into open revolt and tried to escape. Troops from neighboring barracks were summoned and the prisoners were driven back at the point of the bayonet. The Vatican buildings were severely shaken, but the pope was perfectly tranquil.

RELIGION UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Unhappy the Lot of Christians in Foreign Lands.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 1.—Advices from Masovan, Asia Minor, show the trouble anticipated by United States Ambassador Terrill in a dispatch to the state department in August last, culminated in an attempt to burn the American college there. It is added that the would-be incendiaries were discovered.

A BRAZILIAN CONSPIRACY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The Herald's correspondent from Rio de Janeiro says a bold plot to restore the monarchy in Brazil has been discovered by the government through intercepted telegrams.

OVER A WOMAN.

Murder and Cremation in the Footsteps of Love.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 1.—Edward Dompier, a halfbreed Indian, was arrested last night for the murder of Isaac Lennber, whose body was found in a burned barn a few weeks ago at East Umpqua.

The men were both in love with a woman and had had trouble over her, which led to the murder.

A YOUNG GIRL'S SUICIDE.

She Had Had Some Trouble With Her Mother.

FOSTORIA, O., Nov. 1.—Miss May Hamilton, an 18-year-old girl, committed suicide today by shooting herself through the head on account of some trouble she had with her mother.

IT'S DEATH FOR DURRANT

Murder in the First Degree.

The Jury Was Out but Twenty Minutes.

Theatrical Scene in the Courtroom When the Verdict Was Announced.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Theodore Durrant, assistant superintendent of the Emanuel Baptist church Sunday school, was today convicted of the murder of Blanche Lamont, for which he has been on trial since July 22, last.

The jury was out twenty minutes and arrived at a verdict on the first ballot.

As there was no recommendation of mercy, punishment was fixed at death.

The scene in the court room when the verdict was announced will never be forgotten by those who were present.

Judge Murphy finished his charge at 3:30 and the jury at once retired. Although there was supposed to be little prospect of the verdict being returned before 7 or 8 o'clock in the evening, the throng of spectators who had remained in the overcrowded court room all afternoon to hear the judge's charge, settled themselves back in their seats to await the return of the jury.

Mrs. Durrant and the prisoner talked and laughed together, as if an acquittal were a foregone conclusion. They were joined by a half dozen friends and the conversation was becoming animated when it became whispered about that the jury had agreed upon a verdict. In an instant a hush fell upon the little circle that had gathered around the prisoner. Durrant's face, always pale, assumed a ghastly hue, and his mother was speechless.

The big doors at the rear of the room opened and the members of the jury filed in.

There was a stillness in the court room that it had not before known in the trial. The jury filed into the box, the clerk called the roll of the jury and Judge Murphy asked, "Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?" "We have," was the foreman's answer. "You will announce it."

Foreman Warren Dutton then said: "We, the jury, find defendant, William Henry Theodore Durrant, guilty of murder in the first degree."

The next moment men were cheering wildly, while women wept hysterically in the excitement. The bailiff rapped loudly for order, but the tumult continued for a minute before anything like quiet could be brought out of the disorder.

Judge Murphy said that sentence would be passed next Friday, upon which day he would also set a day for the trial of Durrant on the charge of murdering Minnie Williams.

As the last words of the verdict were uttered, Durrant made a spasmodic effort to rise to his feet, but before he could do so his mother, with a half sigh, half moan, threw her arms around his neck and sunk back into her chair. His mother's grief seemed to make Durrant forget his own position and for the next few minutes he sat with his arms around her neck. It was some time before Mrs. Durrant could leave the court room.

Durrant recovered his old time composure and prepared to return to the county jail. With his overcoat swung carelessly over his arm, he walked leisurely out of the room, twirling his slight moustache with apparently as little concern as if he were merely a spectator of, instead of the principal figure in the exciting scene.

The case will be appealed to the supreme court and it is expected that nearly a year will elapse before a decision will be obtained. Gen. Dickinson took exceptions to three features of the district attorney's argument today. He also took exception to the judge's charge.

Crowds gathered about the bulletin boards in various parts of the city and general satisfaction was expressed that the arch criminal of the century had been convicted.

NO CHANCE FOR FIGHT.

Fitz Refuses to Scrap in the State of Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 1.—Corbett's trial is postponed until 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the Fitzsimmons trial to 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

No matter what is the result of the legal proceedings the chances are that there will be no fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

The latter said today to a correspondent of the Associated Press: "There will be no fight in Arkansas. I am done with the Florida Athletic club, and have no use for the citizens of Hot Springs."

"Do you mean that you will not fight in any deal that may be managed by either the Florida Athletic club or by the citizens of Hot Springs?"

The reply came like a flash, "I mean just that."

Earlier in the interview Fitzsimmons declared that he would not fight in this state if it was against the laws. "I am a law-abiding citizen," he said.

Regarding the possibility of trouble between himself and Corbett, he said: "I won't have any trouble, but I'll give him all the fight he wants if he starts in on me."

When asked as to the possibility of trouble between him and Fitzsimmons, Corbett said: "Well, something like that may happen, but Fitzsimmons will have to start it. I want to say right now if that fellow does begin any funny work he is going to get licked good and hard. See?"

DEMPSEY IS DEAD

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 1.—Jack Dempsey, the well-known pugilist, died this morning of consumption.

THE FIGHT FOR PHOENIX.

Julian Seems Willing It Should Be Had Here.

For the last few days there has been much talk in Phoenix as to the possibility of getting the Corbett-Fitzsimmons mill brought off in this city. Money is ready in plenty and yesterday a business telegram signed by Gus Hirschfeld, as agent for a syndicate of sports, went to Manager Julian, as follows: "Provided we can guarantee protection, how much money will we have to raise to pull off the fight here? We have placed $20,000 in the bank today toward the fund."

The answer that came late at night read: "Anything that suits Corbett will suit us." Signed, Martin Julian.

YOUTHFUL PRANKS.

Several Boys Arrested for Observing All Hallowe'en.

Eight boys, ranging from 12 to 16 years, were on trial yesterday for observing Hallowe'en in too prominent a manner. "Tis true that Hallowe'en night is the time for hobgoblins, spooks, etc., to stalk abroad; and the average small boy has some practical joke stored in his noddle for the occasion.

Curfew rang at the usual hour on Thursday night, but the school boys only made a pretense of going home. Several of the lads by previous appointment met at their rendezvous, fixed for a frolic. A long rope with a hay hook was brought into use. They fixed the hook under the footbridges across the irrigating ditches and all hands catching hold of the rope the bridge was overturned.

Several bridges were overturned in this manner and the gang were busily engaged on another when one boy shouted, "Cheese it! here comes the cops!" The cops proved to be Hooker and Bailey, who succeeded in rounding up four of the gang. The rest of the fleet-footed youngsters made their escape good.

Another gang were having great sport with a Chinese house near Burger's corral. The boys fixed a wire across the door and stood off and stoned the house. The frightened Chinese rushed out of the building only to fall prostrate in a heap over the wire. The appearance of the officers caused a general stampede amongst the boys, three of whom were captured.

The prisoners were taken to jail, where in a short while about fifty lads gathered to console them. "Hi, there, what are you doing in there," said one boy, looking through the grating at one of the youthful prisoners. "Huh, you blooming chump, can't you see what I'm doing here?" was the rejoinder.

They were kept in jail until 3 o'clock in the morning, then all were turned loose on condition that they would appear for trial at 4 o'clock.

Recorder Jobs gave each one of the lads a severe reprimand, then turned them loose.

CASA GRANDE VALLEY.

Improvement of a Rich Region.

The Richest of Soil and Ample Water.

Personal Jottings and News Notes From Casa Grande and Arizola.

Special Correspondence of THE REPUBLICAN.

CASA GRANDE, Ariz., Oct. 31.—This a water-blessed region. We are not so colossal in our acreage under cultivation as the Salt River valley nor perhaps as colossal in our reserve of self advertisement but we seem to have more water per capita. Farmers have made five and in some cases six crops of alfalfa this summer.

Some fine tracts of land have been recently improved by residents both old and new. Mr. Argall is enlarging his alfalfa acreage southwest of Casa Grande and building a comfortable residence on the place. The thrifty condition of his ranch is a fine example of what can be done in a year's time in Arizona.

The region immediately adjacent to Casa Grande will soon be one of the most delightful and best developed residence farming regions in Arizona. The holdings seldom exceed 160 acres, some are smaller but all being intelligently and thoroughly developed. The people here are not engaged in speculation but in homemaking.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reid are in California enjoying a little after summer vacation. They are expected home soon and will have their new cut stone residence finished before the winter zephyrs blow. Miss Reid returned a week or so ago and is in charge of the family residence as hostess, a position she fills with characteristic grace. Miss Anna Reid is teaching the McLellan school near Florence.

Mrs. T. D. Hammond and Miss Anna Reid came down from Florence Friday evening last, the former on her way to the Salt River valley for a short visit and the latter for a short call at home.

Mr. Mc Murray, his family and mother, our most recent arrivals, are finding a warm welcome. They are to improve a section of fine land here.

Mrs. Rodman has returned from Tucson where the surgical operation on her arm had proven successful.

Improvement is the order of the day here and the last week has seen the organization of a lodge of Silver Knights and a Young People's society of Christian Endeavor. Both had an auspicious start in their first meetings at Arizola and we trust each will be successful along their individual lines of progress and benevolence.

J. N. Gochenour had his right leg badly bruised in an accident at a hay press Tuesday. The injured limb was dressed and he is now apparently on the way to recovery but will be laid up for several days. His accident is most unfortunate as Mrs. Gochenour is confined to the house with nervous prostration.

Rev. I. T. Whittemore conducted services here a week ago and the pastor Rev. Thompson held services last Sabbath. DOMINUS.

AWAITING TRIAL.

Largest Number of Prisoners Ever Known in the County.

There are now forty-five prisoners incarcerated in the county jail, the greatest number in the history of the court house. Twenty-seven of the inmates are awaiting the action of the territorial grand jury and eight are bound over for the United States grand jury. Of the full number of prisoners only four are Americans, three are Europeans, six are negroes and the rest are Mexicans. Two of the prisoners are bound over on charges of murder.

In addition to the number in jail several persons are out on bonds awaiting the grand jury. The jail officials say that the next grand jury will have the largest criminal budget for many a year.

CURES DIPHTHERIA.

A Wonderfully Useful Remedy if Report Be True.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 1.—Prof. L. I. Blakee has discovered a remedy and preventative of diphtheria. It is a mixture of salt water about two-thirds of the weight of the mixture being salt through which an electric current has been passed. The current produces chloride of oxygen and ozone in an active state.

The mixture is used as a gargle. The treatment has been tried in a number of ways and has been found to instantly and completely kill the microbes wherever found.

"Do you believe," said the bride, "that love can exist without jealousy?" "Yes," replied her husband, "but not without dining. Let's go down to Murray's."
